Description:

Review □Easily one of the best historical novels written in the last twenty years.□ -- Gore Vidal

About the Author Jodi Andersen has spent the last twenty years raising and training dogs. With her instinctual understanding and innate knowledge, she has developed a unique style of behavioral training -- teaching dog owners how their own life-styles ultimately shape the behavior of the dogs they love.

Ms. Andersen trains privately in New York City and is actively involved in dog rescue and training through the League of Animal Protection. She lives on the North Shore of Long Island with her husband, two daughters, and two dogs.

The Latchkey Dog is her first book.
